HOW GREENPLACE FITS

We work best when the exterior needs the same rigor as the architecture.

GreenPlace supports architect-led residential landscapes, custom builds, boutique commercial properties, and enhancement scopes where the garden must feel designed,

WHAT PARTNERS GET

One point of contact, weekly photo updates during build, clear documentation when conditions shift, and a field team that understands material restraint, not just labor.

coordinated, and quietly expensive. The work is not just planting or paving. It is drainage, lighting, water management, detailing, and long-term stewardship resolved as one system.

● Ideal project types

Partner-led residential

- Architect-led gardens and exterior renovations
- Custom builds where outdoor scope must read as part of the home
- Design-driven projects that need lighting, drainage, and hardscape discipline

● Commercial + HOA

Boutique property work

- Arrival upgrades, circulation improvements, and landscape resets
- HOA and multi-family properties needing higher standards and stewardship
- Enhancement scopes where operations and aesthetics must stay aligned

● Early collaboration

Useful before bidding

- Scope-fit feedback and site observations
- Material direction and build-priority notes
- Clear recommendations for consultation, design support, or execution

● Working cadence

● What to send

Calm communication on active sites

- Single point of contact for scope, sequencing, and field communication
- Weekly progress updates with photos during build
- Field decisions documented clearly when site conditions move
- Stewardship pathways available after handoff

How to start a productive conversation

- Project address or neighborhood
- Current design or construction stage
- A short note on design intent or operational goals
- Plans, inspiration, site photos, or reference folders if available

START THE RELATIONSHIP

Send this before the first call.

It works best as a quick alignment document so the project stage, service area, and collaboration expectations are clear before scheduling the consultation.
